

Barbra Streisand is Columbia's "FUNNY GIRL."

MUSIC MUSIC EVERYWHERE

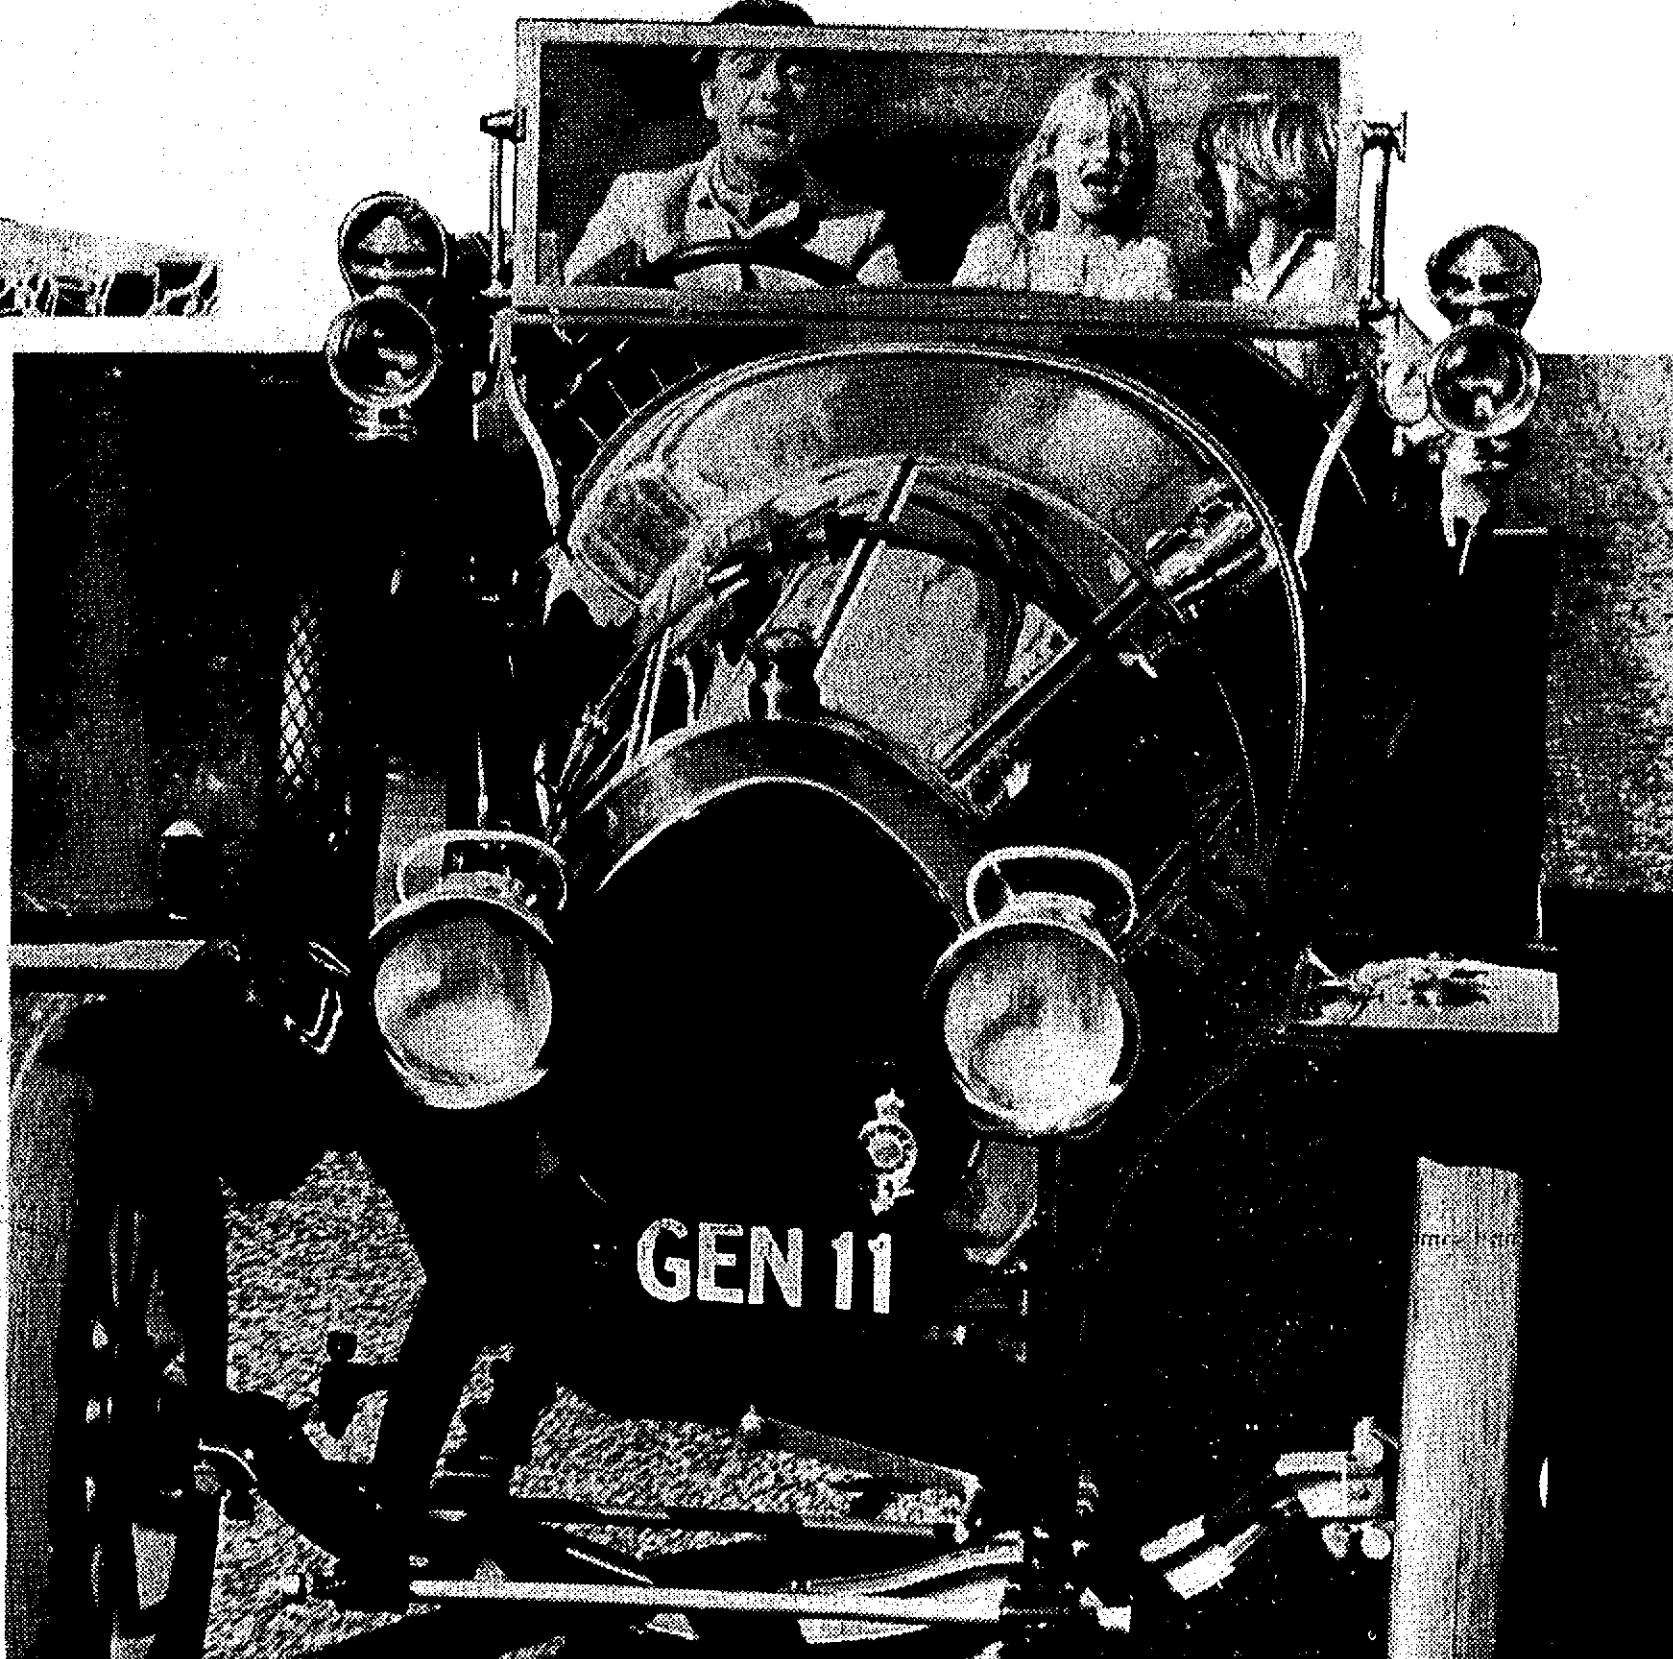

Theaters across the country this fall will be filled with the sounds of music and laughter as top motion picture companies bring out the happy sounds of song and story. There will be the plight of young "OLIVER" or the old famous car "CHITTY CHITTY BANG BANG"; there will be stage productions recreated for the screen, from "HELLO DOLLY" and "FUNNY GIRL" through the extravagant "FINIAN'S RAINBOW." The original "WEST SIDE STORY" will be re-released and "THE STAR" recreates the life of Gertrude Lawrence. For the younger set, the Beatles sing to the all-cartoon story of the "YELLOW SUBMARINE."

Being made all over the world, these musical masterpieces involve cars and stars, songs and thrills, dancing and prancing, ringing and singing, all coming forth as part of the wonderful excitement of MUSIC MUSIC EVERYWHERE.

Rita Moreno sings and dances in United Artists' "WEST SIDE STORY."

Riding "CHITTY CHITTY BANG BANG" is Dick Van Dyke and his co-stars, Heather Ripley and Adrian Hall.

For Julie Andrews, it is being "THE STAR" in the 20th-Century Fox production.

Cartooned Paul McCartney and his fellow Beatles arrive on the scene of action during United Artists' "YELLOW SUBMARINE."

Barbra also becomes Dolly Levi in 20th's "HELLO, DOLLY."

The art of picking pockets is part of young "OLIVER," where Ron Moody as Fagin discusses the talent to Mark Lester, playing the lead role in the Columbia release.

Fred Astaire and Petula Clark join together to do the wash in the Warner Bros.-Seven Arts production of "FINIAN'S RAINBOW."

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. DICKEY GUTHRIE

Miss Janice Lea Reinhardt became the bride of Jon Dickey Guthrie at 4:00 p.m., August 23, in the First United Methodist Church of Hope in the presence of their families only. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Reinhardt of Hope and the granddaughter of Mrs. M. C. Milling of Denham Springs, La. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Kathryn Guthrie of Fort Smith and Mr. Lee E. Guthrie of Lawton, Okla., and the grandson of Mrs. John Dickey and the late Mr. Dickey of Delight.

Rev. Ed. Matthews of First United Methodist Church in Fordyce officiated. Mrs. B. C. Hyatt provided the nuptial music. Candelabras and greenery provided the background for the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length gown of candle-light satin accented with Venise lace. It was styled with a rounded neckline and elbow length sleeves edged in lace. The empire waistline was fashioned with a sheath skirt and a chapel length train. Her three tiered fingertip veil was attached to a Queen Ann petal cap. Her colonial bouquet was of mixed pastel flowers.

Miss Wade Rogers of Fort Smith was the bride's only attendant. She wore a floor length gown of blue voile over a yellow lining made of tiny tucks forming open pleats at the waistline and falling in graceful folds to the hem. The back was accented by a bias belt forming a slight panel. She wore a Dior bow and carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

Rev. John Workman of North Little Rock served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Jim Thompson of Searcy, brother-in-law of the groom, and Phil Wilson of Oklahoma City, uncle of the bride.

After the ceremony, dinner was served to the wedding guests in the home of the bride's parents.

The couple will reside in Con-

GEARED to modern living, these units will go into hydraulic transmissions for boats, where they reportedly provide better operating control by enabling the skipper to shift from forward to reverse without passing to neutral.

Book Deals Television Logs With Chaos Saturday In Africa

THE BEAUTIFUL ONES ARE NOT YET BORN.

By Ayi Kwei Armah. Houghton Mifflin. $4.95.

This strange novel is interesting for its implications rather than its story. Actually it is a record of an African's painful disillusionment with his own country's attempts to govern itself. He has written it in the form of a novel, but his main theme is a personal, subjective reaction to the overwhelming problems of establishing a coherent government in a primitive African society.

The author is a native of Ghana, was educated in the United States, returned to Ghana and found conditions there so bad that he fled the country.

The fictional plot is about a nameless little man who works in the traffic control section of the railroad in a town called Kansa-wora. He happens to be one of those anomalous characters, an honest man — lost amid a sea of bribery, graft and corruption.

This little man resists as best he can the blandishments of a corrupt bureaucrat, but when the inevitable political upheaval occurs, he helps the bureaucratic escape. Armah has emphasized the unhealthy filth of Ghana. He has emphasized the absurd attempts of black "leaders" trying to emulate the white man, and he portrays in bitterness the materialistic greed of black opportunists who pretend to govern their oppressed fellow men.

This is not an easy story to read, for at times its graphic descriptions edge off into incoherence. Its main effect is a jarring commentary on the chaos arising in new African states.

Heat travels faster than cold.

Wants Trial After Election

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The man accused of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy should go to trial after the November presidential election not before, Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn says.

The trial of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan now is set to begin Nov. 1, Hahn asked for a postponement in a letter Wednesday to a Superior Court judge.

"Every thoughtful person understands that there is a tremendous emotional feeling during a presidential election," Hahn said. "I believe it would be in the best interest of justice if the trial of Sirhan Sirhan be continued after Nov. 5."

Judge Richard Schauer, vacationing and unavailable for comment, is expected to announce by Oct. 4 which judge will preside at the murder trial.

HELEN HELP US! by Helen Bottel

HELP FOR GIRL WITHSLOPPY ROOM MATE

Dear Helen: The girl who signed herself "Terrified Trembling Twelve" is not alone in having a sloppy sister for a room mate. (Note from H: You can say THAT again! T. T. T. got more advice and commiseration from NEAT fellow sufferers than I write in three months of columns!)

My sister and I have the same problem. My side of the room is pretty okay, but hers — you can't believe it! Twice a week I clean it thoroughly, and finally hit on a solution. I piled all of her things on the bed while I cleaned. Then I stuffed them in her drawers, and under her bed-cover, instead of hanging them up or folding them neatly as I used to do. The room looked great, but did she ever get a surprise — plus a lot of work, ironing out the wrinkles. Now, whenever her junk piles up for more than a day, she has to go searching for it, and sometimes I just "happen" to stuff it in very unfindable places. She has become much neater — SMART, SECURE AND SATISFIED.

P.S. If she has more junk than drawers, put a cardboard carton by her bed and toss the excess into it. Of course you'll have to get the backing of your parents or she may indulge in a bit of mayhem.

Dear Helen: I think "Terrified Trembling Twelve" has convinced me to keep my room in order. I'm 14, and sort of took this mess for granted until I read her letter. Here I am sitting in it: I can hardly find a place to write. My dressers are beautiful but the clutter and junk on top! My desk? Well, stuff is piled sky high on it. My floor always needs a clean-up job.

This is the first time I have ever admitted my room is a mess. Thanks to T.T.T., it's going to be un-messy from now on. Gotta get to work now! — FINALLY CONVINCED

Dear Helen: My sister is a hoarder. She just can't bear to throw anything away, so the mess piles up. But about once every three months we have a "redecorating" say in our room. When you move furniture, you get inspired, and she gets rid of her "treasures," or at least puts them in a box in the garage until they eventually disappear — SALLY

Dear Helen: You're so right that some kids are "born neat," while others thrive on confusion. But they can change. Our "sloppy one" got converted with a bucket of paint. With considerable misgivings, we allowed our daughters to paint and redecorate their own room — they wouldn't even let us come near. Now both take equal pride in keeping it nice. You see, it's really THEIR place now. — MOM

Dear Helen: I helped break my sister of sloppiness with the "open door policy." Every time she had friends over — even boy friends — I made some excuse to invite them back to our room to see something. And I always mentioned which side was my sister's, very casually. — NEATER NOW

Dear Helen: We trade jobs at our house. My sister fixes my hair and makes some of my clothes which she's good at. I keep our room clean, which I'm good at. — NO STRAIN

Dear Helen: My mother cured me of sloppiness by not buying me any new clothes until I learned to take care of my things — and keep my ironing up to date. — S.M.

Dear Helen: We had the problem of neat vs. messy sisters at our house. It was solved with a movable partition that reached from floor to ceiling. Because I was considered the sloppy one, I had the part at the far end of the room. My sister and her friends stayed in her section and never had to see mine. Also saved arguments as to who had to clean up what. — DOUGLASS GIRL

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — While a few television newcomers are attracting the lion's share of pre-season attention, some others are being almost snubbed. Historically, however, some of the "sleepers" and shows given little chance have proved to be among the industry's most durable commodities.

"The Beverly Hillbillies," for instance, was not enthusiastically received when it started—seven years ago. "Peyton Place" started with critical groans—five years ago. "The Flying Nun" arrived last season when the wise ones declared that fantasy was dead. All, however, are back and healthy.

Some new shows will slip into the TV channels next month with comparatively little splash, too. One to keep an eye on is a CBS half-hour show called "Two Good Guys."

For one thing, it stars Bob Denver, a lanky, casual comedy actor who looks younger than his 33 years and has never been caught in a television trap.

An elementary grades teacher with an interest in acting, Denver made the TV big time with his third professional role—Maynard G. Krebs, the bearded hippie in "Dobie Gillis" that ran for all those CBS seasons. When that cracked to a halt, Denver immediately popped up a Gilligan in "Gilligan's Island," a kooky series that was denounced by everyone except a large and adoring audience.

Denver, come to think of it, has never been critically acclaimed and his "Gilligan's Island" replaced "Beverly Hillbillies" as the example most often used when high-brow critics wanted to show the intellectual level of television entertainment. It went on and on. However, it lasted for several seasons: Denver and company made people laugh.

Now, co-starring with another funny fellow, Herb Edelman, Denver will continue playing Denver, this time as a cab driver full of money-making schemes that, of course, misfire.

These Programs Have to Go

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Drastic budget cuts by the Douglas County Board are expected to bring two county programs to an end Oct. 1: The marriage conciliation court and the noxious weed program.

Youth Beat THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

BUGGED? RELAX: Tired of the folks and well-meaning friends scaring you to death just because you choose to drive a small, economical, easy to handle Volks? You were right if you insisted it was safe and sane. Latest stats show that the Volks has a lower rate of accidents per thousand than most American-made "biggies."

MEDICARE FOR TEENS:

A medicare program for teen-agers and co-op nursery schools for unwed mothers were among the recommendations made to a Governor's (California) Advisory Committee on children and youth. "A doctor can't touch a kid without parents' consent. Many teens are afraid to tell their parents their problem. Medical help for teens should be available on a free basis." So goes the teen answer to medicare! One group is "too young" to be sick—the other "too old" to pay for their infirmities! The "nursery" co-ops proposed are to be staffed by girls awaiting their own out-of-wedlock children. Located near high schools where vocational training will be encouraged during pregnancies. Teens are muttering that welfare shouldn't be a privilege of the aged!

CYCLE HELMETS: Because it's unconstitutional to require motorcycleists to wear crash helmets, Michigan has come up with a way to force helmets on them. The state legislature just passed a law requiring a helmet to be sold with each motorcycle. Theoretically, the buyers will decide to wear it as long as they bought it. Many hope it will work to save lives of teen cycle nuts.

Lost a Vette Yet? Afraid to invest in a gorgeous new Chevie Corvette because you think someone might steal it? Worry no longer. General Motors has developed a theft alarm that's sure to scare off the most determined joyrider. We aren't telling what it is, but take our advice and don't find out the hard way!

BUYING CARS: People in the know advise teen boys who are in the market for their cars to listen to word-of-mouth recommendations for a good car dealer.

WHEN? The worst time to buy a car is just when you want it most—that is, during the spring and summer when demand is highest. Best time is autumn, right after new models come out. Also winter, when car business is slow. Perfect back-to-school investment or Christmas gift.

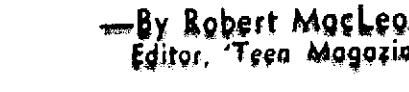

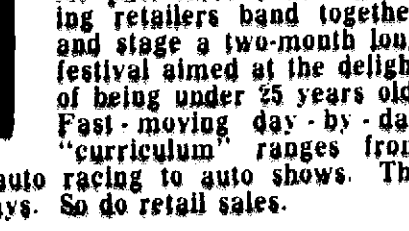

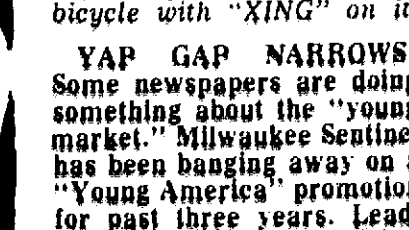

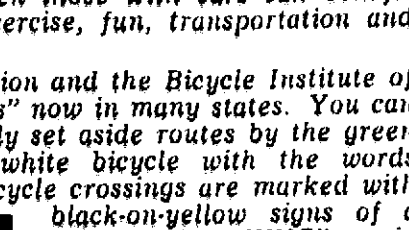

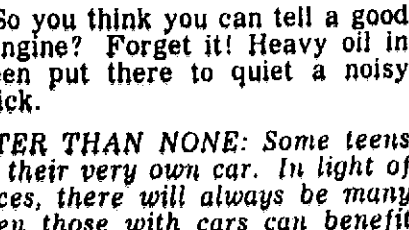

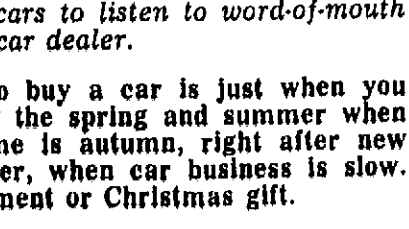

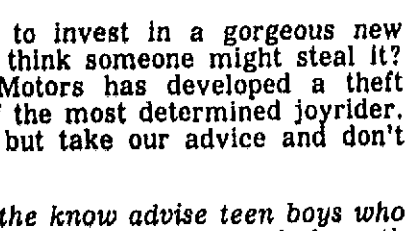

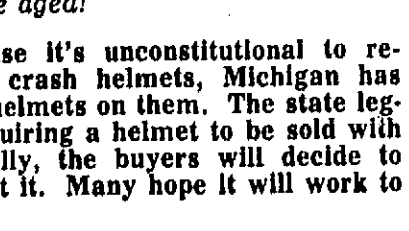

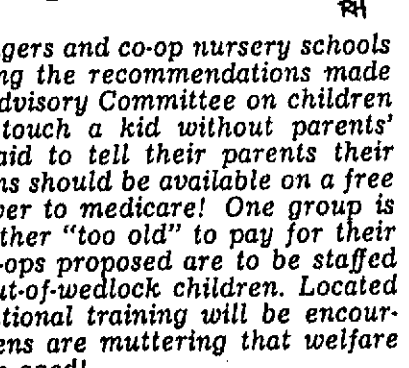

Your Ears Can Fool You: So you think you can tell a good used car by the purr of its engine? Forget it! Heavy oil in the crankcase may have been put there to quiet a noisy engine. So check the dip stick.

TWO WHEELS ARE BETTER THAN NONE: Some teens scorn any transportation but their very own car. In light of car prices and teen allowances, there will always be many without their own cars. Even those with cars can benefit from the following: For exercise, fun, transportation and great dates, try bicycling.

Thanks to government action and the Bicycle Institute of America there are "bikeways" now in many states. You can recognize these safe, specially set aside routes by the green rectangle sign showing a white bicycle with the words "Bike Route" on it. Safe bicycle crossings are marked with black-on-yellow signs of a bicycle with "XING" on it.

YAP GAP NARROWS: Some newspapers are doing something about the "young market." Milwaukee Sentinel has been banging away on a "Young America" promotion for past three years. Leading retailers band together and stage a two-month long festival aimed at the delight of being under 25 years old. Fast-moving day-by-day "curriculum" ranges from rock 'n' roll to opera, to auto racing to auto shows. The town jumps for almost 60 days.

clubs with 100 honors as an extra bonus.
West opened the deuce of spades. Winkman played his king on dummy's nine. South won with the ace and played the ace and a low club. When West produced the nine, Wink-man could figure out the whole hand.
West had led the deuce of spades to show exactly four cards in that suit. Hence declarer had three spades. Declarer also had six clubs which left him exactly four red cards. If one were the ace of diamonds, the five-club contract was sure to make. If the four red cards were three small hearts and the jack of diamonds, Winkman would have to play his king of diamonds to beat the contract.
Out came the king of diamonds in a storybook expert play and down went the declarer.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH
Going on a Trip?
Take Your Teeth
By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Summertime is travel time and, as the departure date for a long trip draws near, life can become pretty hectic. In the excitement of arranging for baggage and clothes, passage and visas, traveler's checks, reservations, medical "shots" and a comfortable shoes, don't forget dental prophylaxis and examination.
Of all preparations, particularly if you're going abroad, checking on your dental health could be most important. A visit to the dentist in some parts of the world, even for a minor procedure, can be an uncomfortable experience, enough to spoil your trip.
Dates with your dentist should be made far enough in advance of vacation so as not to burden him with your departure deadline. Last-minute procedures often end as temporary ones which might break down on your trip.
Be sure to pack enough toothpaste and brushes to last the entire trip. These items are not difficult to find almost anywhere in the world—except maybe in the African bush—but you may not be able to get your favorite brands. I remember using toothpaste recommended by a druggist in a foreign country, and I was lucky to have any gums left. It burned so.
If you plan to be abroad for many weeks and you are one of those dental cripples who require frequent care, ask your dentist for a list of dentists in places on your itinary. Being personally recommended to a dentist in case of emergency can be a blessing.
If you must pay an emergency visit to a foreign dentist, try not to have any definitive work done. Just ask him to do enough to hold you till you can get home to your own dentist. This is not because foreign dentists are so awful but because their techniques and philosophy differ from ours.
Denture wearers will feel lots safer traveling if they have a spare set with them.
Breaking a denture can be calamitous, and losing one even worse.
Pack spares well. Be sure they are moist at all times, and try not to leave them in luggage that will be subjected to extreme heat. They can become warped.
When traveling, try not to change your dental habits.
Brush your teeth as often and as well as always. When I suggested this to one traveler, he replied that the only change he made on a trip to a foreign country was to rinse his mouth with bottled water when he thought the tap water wasn't potable.
Have a nice trip.

OUT OUR WAY

WORLD ALMANAC

FACTS
Etienne de Silhouette, whose hobby was cutting out paper portraits, was French finance minister in 1759. The World Almanac says. Trying to increase revenues, Silhouette's policies were so severe that he was forced to resign after nine months. During this time the arts took on an austerity "a la Silhouette" (on the cheap) so that instead of painting portraits artists simply drew outlines in profile.

Of Real And Contrived Poverty

The fashionable look for fall, if Henri Bendel knows what he is talking about (and how did he get to be a fashion tycoon if he didn't?) will be that of the "poor girl."

This is not precisely what you might expect however. For while the "poor girl look" is dramatized by a drab-looking dress, unadorned, with long sleeves, high neckline, plain white collar and plain belt — back where the belt used to be — the designer's efforts to achieve the look of poverty seem to have been extensive. One of Mr. Bendel's versions of what a poor girl would wear is price-tagged at $259 — a touch of distinction which suggests that if the girl wasn't poor before she bought the dress, she will be afterward.

Reading the small type, we learn that the poor girl fashion trend is a study in reverse styling. The typical poor girl dress dazzles by being so undazzling. That's fine — but at $259 an undazzle some of the really poor folk may have to forego the appearance of poverty in order to avoid getting mired down in it. The big question will likely be: Can contrived poverty be made so attractive that there will be a trend toward genuine poverty? If Mr. Bendel's creations are popular enough, the answer will be yes. — Huntington (W. Va.) Herald-Advertiser

The 1969s Are Coming

It's that time of year again, and there's news from Detroit to confirm the fact. The auto factories are starting up the assembly lines on 1969 models. In a few weeks they will be rolling to dealer's showrooms at the rate of 25,000 or more a day.

It is not revealing a trade secret to divulge that the new cars will be better than ever. There will be little ones, medium-sized ones and big ones, and the proliferation of models will be sufficient to make everyone dissatisfied with whatever conveyance he is now driving. — Shreveport (La.) Journal

Justice And Mercy

Justice tempered with mercy is not dead. A St. Joseph, Mo., judge recently levied a fine of only $10 on a truck driver convicted of carrying an 870-pound overload on his vehicle.

The judge made his weighty decision after the defendant explained that a large portion of the overload was attained when he accommodated a 325-pound friend, who asked for a ride. — Dallas (Tex.) News

Eating Up

The cost of living has edged up a fraction, this time with food items being a sizable reason. The line at the grocery check-out counter is now known as the "poor people's march." — Nashville (Tenn.) Tennessean

Polite Tension at Conference

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — An atmosphere described as "polite tension" marks a scientific conference at Holy Cross College attended by both Soviet and Czech delegates.

One of the Czechs said Wednesday he thought the Soviet invasion of his country caught the 10-member Russian delegation by surprise. The Czech declined to be quoted directly.

The Russians were not available for comment. They are attending the second annual International Conference on Thermal Analysis.

Shadows of Kennedys at Convention

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The shadow of Kennedys past etched itself sharply across the Democratic presidential nomination convention today as committees wrangled over preliminary platform, rules and delegate seating decisions.

The subsidiary bearers of the once powerful nannies of the assassinated President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy served blunt notice they will carry to the floor of next week's convention, if necessary, a fight for the "strongest possible peace plank" on Vietnam.

Theodore Sorensen, confidante of both of the slain brothers, told reporters Thursday: "The Democratic platform must have a strong peace plank, or regardless of the nominee, we can forget about the (November) election."

"So we will present to the convention, as a majority plank if that can be, or a minority plank, if that must be, the strongest peace plank that we can draw."

Despite his lack of status as a delegate, Sorensen's voice had an authenticity in expressing the most recent Kennedy view point, substantiated earlier by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in a call for an unconditional halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Sorensen and most other supporters of Sen. Kennedy have not yet found a home for the presently uncommitted delegates from California, New York, Indiana, Nebraska, and other states where Kennedy had won primaries and picked up convention support before he was assassinated in Los Angeles on June 4.

They have turned thumbs down on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, by all odds the overwhelming favorite for the presidential nomination scheduled to be awarded next Wednesday night.

Sorensen and his hard-shell Kennedy associates have refused to go over to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., Humphrey's principal opponent.

Reports Theft of Tarantula

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A tarantula measuring 24 inches from foreleg tip to rear leg tip is reported stolen from a soap box in James McGuire's garage.

McGuire, 19, told police Wednesday his huge spider disappeared during lessons to teach it how to jump. A police all-points bulletin warned the tarantula, named Cuddles, is dangerous.

Nixon Dons Casual Garb in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon, trailed by Secret Service agents, donned the casual garb of a Florida tourist Thursday and went for a boat ride.

Nixon and the agents boarded a houseboat for a cruise in Biscayne Bay along the Miami shore. Only the bulge of guns under the knit shirts of the security detail distinguished the party from other tourists.

Nixon later returned to his two-story, oceanfront villa at Key Biscayne Hotel where he has been relaxing before resuming his campaign.

An aide, Ron Ziegler, said Nixon is keeping in close touch with assistants in Washington who provide him with information on the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the condition of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The aide said Nixon hopes his wife and two daughters will be able to join him at his Key Biscayne retreat, an island connected to Miami by a causeway.

Charter Member of Air Corps Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — M. Sgt. Carl Trumen Hale, among 18 enlisted men who formed the first company in the Army Air Corps, is dead at 81.

He died of cancer Monday, 56 years after he volunteered for the "flying experiment" while on duty with the Signal Corps in Alaska.

When he made out transfer papers to the Air Corps, Hale said his first sergeant scoffed: "You'll be sorry. Them things ain't safe. You'll just get killed, that's all."

Hale retired in 1938, with 30 years of service. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Vacationer Finds Many Fine Attractions Very Close to Her Home

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

Notes from a Down South vacation: It's a wonderful part of the country in which we live! President Johnson encourages Americans to "see America first." Fine. But we could go a step further and say, "take a closer look at attractions closest to home that, perhaps, you've never visited."

The best thing about our south and southwest areas is the people. You can't beat them. The scenic beauty is superb, too, and the cities hold a variety of fascination, especially to those of us from a predominately rural vicinity.

If geography had no particular appeal to you in school, a trip from the northern to the southern parts of Louisiana impresses the traveler better than a book. For instance, we crossed two rivers in that state — the deepest in the U.S. (Atchafalaya River) and the longest in the U.S. (Mississippi River). Our eyes beheld sugar cane growing and gray-green moss hanging from both trees and electrical wires, sights we had never beheld in person. It was surprising to learn that the moss hanging in the air of southern Louisiana is not a parasite (as we'd always thought) and that it lived on air with a salt content. This makes it necessary for it to be reasonably near salt water; earth, however, is not desirable. When the wind blows the moss to the ground, it dies.

While we saw the campus of LSU and the grounds of the state capitol and the governor's mansion, all in Baton Rouge, it was the old city of New Orleans (pronounced Noo OR-lins by natives, despite a wide variety of other ways) that caught us in a firm grasp. It is a city unlike any other, as all visitors and residents will quickly agree.

The widest street in America is in New Orleans. It is beautiful Canal Street in the heart of the city. But it is balanced by the oh-so-narrow streets of the French Quarter. The elegance of such stores as Maison Blanc ("White House" if you don't speak French either) is balanced by the small crowded antique shops. Another contrast is found between having dinner at Antoine's and being served doughnuts and hot cafe au lait at a sidewalk restaurant.

Crossing Lake Ponchartrain

on the 27-mile causeway (bridge) is an experience that is unusual, but we didn't know how much so until a few miles out a sign suddenly loomed ahead which read, "Detour, 15 miles ahead." (We didn't believe it either.) However, the fact is it can be done and without either walking or riding on water.

A second causeway is being built parallel to the existing one, and construction has begun on the side of the lake farthest away from New Orleans. Therefore, in the approximate middle of the lake, the newer bridge appeared and traffic was detoured from the old to the new. Engineers are raising the older portion to a higher level, thereby necessitating the detour.

The drive along the Gulf to Biloxi, Miss., is beautiful, and coming back through southern Louisiana in the area where the story of Evangeline was laid is breath-taking. When travel is combined with the association of friends of both long duration and short acquaintance, the enjoyment is multiplied. Happily, this was the case throughout this trip.

Next week we will have a report on the Texas phase of our vacation.

Priest Confirms His Marriage

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The Rev. Michael J. Moakler, a Roman Catholic priest in the Providence Diocese, has confirmed that he and the former Miss Eleanor M. Travers were married Aug. 1 by a town clerk in Seekonk, Mass.

He said he has applied for a job teaching high school Latin or English. His wife is a bank clerk.

He said they are trying to obtain Church validation of their marriage, and that he left the priesthood because of a "personal conviction that I could find content only in the married state."

Gets Divorce

LONDON (AP) — John Lennon of the Beatles was sued for divorce Thursday by his wife, Cynthia, 27. She said Yoko Ono, the Japanese actress, was "the other woman" in his life.

The Lenons were married in 1962 and have a 5-year-old son. He and Miss Ono filed what the British divorce courts call "an acknowledgement of service," meaning a denial of the charge of adultery.

This pile of soft drink concentrate is part of the equipment needed to make moonshine liquor. In the background is a row of barrels containing mash. The two stills at the site had a capacity of 700 gallons, so it took a lot of jugs in a hurry. At left Sheriff Jimmie Griffin holds one of the jugs as Deputy Herbert Griffin and City Police Chief A. S. Willis look over the pile. Three arrested at the still, 15 miles south of Hope, were Wilton Estes, 54; his son, Jerry Estes, 26, and Billy Powell, 30. They were arraigned at Texarkana yesterday and released on bonds of $1,000 each pending trial.

Negro Group Leader Fined on DWI Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bobby Brown, president of the Little Rock chapter of Black United Youth, was sentenced Thursday to one year in jail and fined $250 on his second charge this year of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

He was also found guilty of driving without a license by Municipal Judge John L. Sullivan and was fined $50 on that charge.

Brown, 20, did not contest the charges. He had initially pleaded not guilty. Attorney Louis A. Dorrill said Brown changed his plea because his witnesses were not available. Dorrill said Brown, who was released from jail on a $1,400 appeal bond, would appeal.

Sullivan said Brown had been fined $58 and sentenced to a day in jail on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol Jan. 11. He paid a $25 fine for driving without a license and $25 for following too closely at the same time.

A fine of not less than $250 but not more than $1,000 and a jail sentence of not less than 10 days or more than a year are mandatory when a person is convicted of driving while under the influence of alcohol twice in one year.

Drive to Improve

Officer Image

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — An advertising campaign will be launched in Baltimore to improve the image of the police officer as a friend of the public. The campaign, announced by a task force of the mayor's advisory commission on crime, will include radio, television and newspaper advertisements, billboards, and posters on buses.

Dogs Reported Killing Cattle

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The house wild dog study committee of the Georgia General Assembly has set a public hearing to investigate reports that killer dogs are destroying cattle and causing large economic losses.

Dubcek Joins Moscow Talks, Report Says

VIENNA (AP) — Radio Prague said today Czechoslovak Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek and Premier Oldrich Cernik have joined the talks which President Ludvik Svoboda is holding with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

Radio Nitra in Slovakia gave the same report. Both broadcasts said the two leaders were released to take part in the talks.

Radio Nitra quoted members of the presidium of the Slovak Communist party who returned to party headquarters in Prague after having been detained earlier.

They said the commander of occupation troops enabled them to have a telephone talk with Deputy Premier Gustav Husak in Moscow.

Husak told them about the participation of Dubcek and Cernik in the talks, adding "please wait in Bratislava for a success of the talks", apparently referring to a Slovak party congress scheduled to start today.

Radio Prague also quoted the telephone talk of the Slovak leaders as the source of its information about Dubcek and Cernik.

The radio said the two leaders had been taken to Moscow earlier, apparently as prisoners.

Radio Prague said Husak promised he would inform the people over the free radio stations.

Lamplighter Succumbs

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A tradition on the Mississippi River moved closer to its finish Thursday with the death of Robert Rawes, 73, long-time river beacon lamplighter for the U.S. Coast Guard at Helena, Ark.

Rawes, who died at Memphis Veterans Hospital, was the last active lamplighter for the Coast Guard except for one who tends lights north of Memphis, the Coast Guard said.

Battery operated beacons are now used on the river instead of oil lamps.

Parking Meter Came to Him

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Ralph M. Johnson, a brakeman for the Great Northern Railway, left on a railway run to Minneapolis-St. Paul Wednesday night. When he returned Thursday afternoon, he found that a parking meter had been installed where his car was parked and an overtime parking ticket put on the car.

Foe Declares Fulbright Was Wrong

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Charles T. Bernard, who will oppose Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., in the November general election said Thursday night that the junior senator was wrong when he predicted Russia would relinquish control of Poland, East Germany, Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

Bernard, a Republican, also quoted Fulbright as saying four years ago that the United States could acknowledge that the Soviet Union had ceased to be "totally and implacably hostile" to the West.

The Earle businessmen and farmer said that the United States should avoid military involvement in Czechoslovakia. "Hopefully, our diplomatic approach will resolve this crisis in favor of freedom," he told a group of supporters.

"Coexistence is desirable but the situation in Czechoslovakia proves we must be careful in building bridges not to forfeit our own principles," he said. "We must be realistic in our dealings with these nations and we must avoid false hopes."

War Critics Insist on Peace Plank

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Critics of the Vietnam War have agreed on a plank calling for early peace and promised to fight for its adoption at the Democratic Convention.

They pledged an appeal to the convention itself if—as expected—they are outvoted in the official platform committee. Such a fight could delay the presidential and vice presidential nominations next week.

The plank, announced Friday night, is acceptable to Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Sen. George McGovern but appears unacceptable to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the front-runner for the nomination.

It includes four major points: 1. An end to all bombing of North Vietnam, while continuing to provide in the South all necessary air and other support for U.S. troops.

2. Phased, mutual withdrawal of all U.S. forces and all North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam over "a relatively short period of time."

3. Encouraging South Vietnam to negotiate a political reconciliation with the National Liberation Front looking toward a government which is "broadly representative of these and all elements in South Vietnamese society."

4. A cut-back of offensive operations in the Vietnamese countryside such as the search and destroy drive against the Viet Cong "to reduce American casualties and the suffering Vietnamese civilians" and make possible an early withdrawal of a significant number of U.S. troops.

The proposed plank adds "we are also resolved to have no more Vietnam."

The peace proposal gets its first test today when it is presented to the drafting subcommittee of the official platform committee. The subcommittee is trying to complete by tonight a platform draft for consideration by the committee itself.

Supporters of Humphrey and President Johnson's Administration make up an apparently substantial majority both of the subcommittee and the committee. The official draft, accordingly, seems certain to recommend a different plank, setting the stage for a floor fight.

The suggested plank, said to have the support of more than 20 members of the 110-member platform committee, avoids direct criticism of Johnson or his administration, saying, "disregarding judgment about the wisdom of the past, we must now act to secure and enrich our own future by bringing the war in Vietnam to a swift conclusion."

Lightning Kills Two Soldiers

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Lightning struck in an Army training camp near here Thursday, killing two soldiers and injuring eight others.

The soldiers, members of a Ranger detachment from Ft. Benning, Ga., were undergoing training on the sprawling Eglin Air Force Base in northwest Florida.

The injured were flown to Eglin hospital where one was admitted in critical condition. The other seven were treated and released.

Politics at a Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here is a summary of major political developments:

Democrats: The Democratic National Convention next week appears headed for floor fights over the platform and delegate seating. Former Kennedy aide Theodore Sorensen said he would fight for the strongest possible plank for peace in Vietnam. The Credentials Committee voted to split Georgia's disputed delegation between party regulars and a civil rights slate.

Republicans: Presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon is vacationing in Florida. American Independence: George Wallace has flown to Oregon to accept the nomination of his party in that state.
